

United States colleges and universities are bracing for declines in international student enrolments in the coming autumn (fall) semester with a loss of up to US$4.5 billion in revenue, according to a pair of reports examining the impact of COVID-19 on US higher education (F: M. B. Marklein, UWN 31.05.20)