

The UK has been warned to expect a possible exodus of leading research talent to European Union universities if it does not gain access to the bloc's research programme as European Research Council grant winners in the UK are approached by continental institutions.(F: THE 01.22)