

More than 700 researchers from across Europe have signed an open letter criticising Plan S, a European plan for open access that is supported by the European Union and some national funding agencies. The researchers say the plan is "unfair for the scientists involved and is too risky for science in general". (Fonte: B. O'Malley, UWN 13-11-18)