

LGEU is a leadership development programme for higher education leaders, academic departmental heads, registrars and senior professional administrators, organised by the IAU, the International Association of Universities.

The IAU has announced the launch of LGEU+, the revamped online programme, in October/November, consisting of short, focused sessions to enable participants to enhance their approach to strategic planning; discover new leadership ideas and insights; extend their international network through peer engagement. It aims to empower university leaders to understand emerging higher education trends and address leadership challenges on the frontline of digital, financial, environmental and societal disruption.
